Renewable Energy for Europe
Campaign for Take-Off

Centre de Congrès, Toulouse, France
23 - 25 October 2000

Recourse to Renewable Energy Sources is fast accelerating throughout Europe under the impetus of environmental concerns. The European Union aims at doubling the present share to reach 12% of its own energy consumption by 2010. Development of Renewable Energy will be a driving force to meet Europe's targets for greenhouse gas emission reduction, protection of the environment as a whole, sustainable development, and also security of energy supply.

The European Commission's ALTENER programme and the EU Campaign for Take-Off for Renewables are providing an early impulse to ensure that the goals of the EU White Paper for a Community strategy and action plan for Renewable Energy Sources are achieved.

This conference will be a key event which will underpin the work of the Campaign and the goals of the White Paper, strengthening commitment of relevant actors and awareness in the wider community.
